Thinking of Installing A Gas Boiler?

Think Condensing – You'll See It Makes Sense!

All the experts agree that when it comes to reducing energy costs, Condensing gas boilers can't be beaten. This is because they are highly economical and efficient, helping to significantly reduce your fuel bills.

While traditional boilers can lose up to 25% of the heat they produce, Condensing gas boilers work on the principle of recovering as much of this waste heat as possible. Boiler efficiency is maximised by use of an extra large heat exchanger to increase heat transfer from the burner, and by condensing water vapour to recover as much latent heat as possible.

Flogas are delighted to dispel some of the myths surrounding Condensing gas boilers!

- Condensing gas boilers operate at a typical annual efficiency of almost 100%, compared with a seasonal efficiency of only 70%-75% for standard boilers.
- In an average household, they can save as much as 25% on heating costs over a typical 12 month period.
- Condensing gas boilers are suitable for replacing most existing boilers and can be wall-hung or floor standing.
- They are usually very easy to install, without changes to your current system design.
- It is not necessary to install oversized or special radiators.
