The Challenge

Liam Sheedy, Flogas Brand Ambassador lives in Portroe, Co Tipperary. Previously, Liam had an oil home heating system however he wanted to change to a cleaner and more efficient fuel for his home and the environment. Liam and his family found that their house was taking too long to heat and provide hot water. They wanted an alternative home heating system that would heat their home on demand.

Liam started to consider other home heating options and got in touch with the local Flogas Area Representative, Tommy Murray.

‘It was a seamless switchover process with very little disruption to Liam and his family.’

The Flogas Solution

Tommy Murray paid a visit to Liam’s home to discuss the benefits of switching from oil to Flogas LPG and answer any questions that Liam and his family had. Tommy also advised Liam about the best tank location and the necessary siting guidelines for their home.

By switching from oil to Flogas LPG, Liam and his family could benefit from a cleaner fuel source. LPG is clean burning, meaning it is free from lead and sulphur and produces considerably less carbon emissions than oil. An LPG powered central heating system also comes with a modern, quiet and super-efficient boiler. Living in a rural area, oil theft is a constant worry for homeowners but with LPG your fuel supply is safe.

Liam and his family were very impressed with Flogas LPG and decided to make the switch.

The Changeover Process

The installation was completed by Registered Gas Installer, Derek Sharkey. Along with Liam and Tommy, Derek agreed a layout for the pipework and where the tank would be placed. Derek then fitted the gas boiler and completed the pipework. The tank was then sited and filled, and Liam had his new heating system up and running in just one day.

It was a seamless switchover process with very little disruption to Liam and his family.
